DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

3. Claims 1-5 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP 05285783 in view of Watanabe.

JP '783 (col. 2, lines 43+) teaches the claimed apparatus for producing a mold by generating an optimum roughing processing locus and automatic machining the mold, comprising: a measuring device (scanning tracer head 20), a computer with memory 15 and computer controlled mold working machine (automatic mold machining 11).

Art Unit: 1725

JP '783 fails to teach the use of computing means.

However, Watanabe (col. 8, lines 43+) teaches the use of computing means 1 in CAD device for metal mold for the purpose of generating numerical calculation (NC) data and preparing drawing on displaying unit 6 and reducing machining time. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to provide JP '783 the use of use of computing means as taught by Watanabe in order to generate numerical calculation (NC) data and prepare drawing on displaying unit 6 and reduce machining time.

4. Claims 6-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable JP 05285783 in view of Watanabe and further in view of Langer et al.

JP '783 in view of Watanabe fails to teach the use of a cast mold-model working machine.

However, Langer et al (col. 8, lines 7+) teach the use of a cast mold-model working machine including pattern and core for casting mold with finite controlled deformation (shrinkage) (col. 9, lines 37+) for the purpose of effective producing accurate cast part. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to provide JP '783 in view of Watanabe the use of a cast mold-model working machine including pattern and core for casting mold with finite controlled deformation (shrinkage) as taught by Langer et al in order produce an accurate mold.
